

Editorial

It is with great satisfaction to present the 18th number of Jahr – European Journal of Bioethics. The amount and variety of papers has been increased, and a new declaration is presented. We have refreshed the Editorial Board for a more efficient editing of our journal, and the introduction of DOI numbers classification of contributions has been completed.

In the current issue you can read about unavoidable links between ethnos and bioethics, bioethics of sport with special attention to Croatian and Serbian academic production in the field, practical comparison between Islamic and Christian guidelines concerning end of life, medical secret as a basis of medical confidence, the protection of human dignity concerning artificial insemination in Croatia, and the conferences as useful tools for bioethics education.

Several book reviews, as well as four scientific meeting reviews are also a part of this issue, but we also bring for the first time the Barcelona Declaration of the International Society for Clinical Bioethics devoted to the protection of children's dignity and rights.

We also bring the information about The Annual Fritz Jahr International Award for Research and Promotion of European Bioethics including the open call for nominations for the next year. Be welcome to forward this information.

I would like to thank the members of the Editorial Board, peer-reviewers and all other associates included in the creation of this issue. I owe special thanks to the Executive Editor, Managing Editor and our Language Editors for the extraordinary help.

Enjoy reading Jahr!
